Dr. Manmohan Singh

A Profile

Dr. Manmohan Singh was born in 1932 in a village in Punjab province of undivided India. From an early age he was interested in academics and excelled in both school and college. In 1954 he completed his Masters in Economics from Panjab University, and went to Cambridge University (1955-57) for further studies. Returning to Panjab University as a lecturer, he took a break from teaching to pursue a doctorate at Oxford University (1960-62). Cutting short a brief stint at the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development in New York (1966-69), Dr. Singh joined the prestigious Delhi School of Economics as a professor, thus firmly establishing his academic credentials.

The next phase of his career was with the Government of India. Joining as an economic adviser in the then ministry of foreign trade (1971), he held key positions in the ministry of finance, before taking over as member-secretary of the Planning Commission in 1980. After two and a half years as the Governor of the Reserve Bank of India (1982-85), Dr. Singh returned to the Planning Commission, this time as its deputy chairman. Thus, in a span of about fifteen years, he gained considerable experience of the economic and development sectors in India. Rounding this off with his assignment as the first secretary-general of the newly established South Commission based in Geneva (1987-90), Dr. Singh used this opportunity to explore social, economic, and political issues facing developing countries across the world.

Dr. Manmohan Singh entered politics in 1991, when he joined the Indian National Congress. Appointed as finance minister of India by the then prime minister Shri P.V. Narasimha Rao, Dr. Singh launched a series of radical measures to revive and reform the economy. Despite a change in government five years later, the reform process continued. During this period, Dr. Singh was re-elected as member of the Rajya Sabha, and served as leader of the opposition in the upper house of Parliament (1998-04).

In 2004 Dr. Manmohan Singh became the Prime Minister of India, heading a coalition government of various political parties, led by the Indian National Congress. Five years later, the coalition was voted back to power. In May 2009, Dr. Singh was sworn in as the fourteenth Prime Minister of India. He remained in office till 26 May 2014.

WRITINGS AND SPEECHES, 1957-2003

A note on the collection

This is a collection of papers written by Dr. Manmohan Singh between 1957 and 2003. Most have been published in various books and journals. However, the collection also includes several mimeographs. Apart from the few documents that were available in digital format, the rest are scans of printed, typewritten or handwritten copies.

The documents are arranged by year. If there is more than one paper in a particular year, these are arranged alphabetically by title. If a paper is reprinted in a later year, the reprint is placed immediately after the original.

The decade 1990-99 has been divided into 3 phases, each of which has a distinctive character. Dr Manmohan Singh served as Union Finance Minister from June 1991 to April 1996. The papers are thus divided into three sections relating to the periods before, during and after his term as Finance Minister. As a result, there is a break in the alphabetical listing of papers for the year 1991 and 1996.

INTERVIEWS, 1986 to 2004

A note on the collection

This collection consists of interviews of Dr Manmohan Singh between December 1986 and May 2004. Its contents are listed in the document: List of interviews 1986 – 2004.

There are two parts to the collection. The first part covers INTERVIEWS that were published IN THE PRINT MEDIA. These are listed in chronological order. The last such interview in 2004 was based on a conversation that took place before Dr Singh was sworn in as prime minister. The piece was, however, published a few days later.

The second part covers INTERVIEWS IN THE ELECTRONIC MEDIA. It begins with an interview recorded soon after Dr Singh became finance minister in 1991. The last one was recorded shortly before he became prime minister in 2004. These interviews may also be viewed in the collection of video recordings - 1991 to 2004, which includes speeches, lectures and other events.

The audio/ visual quality of the recordings varies. In some cases, more than one version of an event has been included. This may help to compensate for the poor quality in portions of a particular recording. The sound may either be in stereo or mono mode.

Most recordings are sourced from personal records. A few have been obtained from Doordarshan Archives, YouTube or other sources – these are mentioned in the file properties of each video. In several cases, the precise date of airing is not known. The recordings are listed by year, in alphabetical order.

PRIME MINISTER OF INDIA

A note on Press conferences, 2004 TO 2014

Most of the 81 documents in this collection are proceedings of press conferences. However, they include a few press meetings, briefings and other interactions. These interactions took place in India and abroad, and frequently en route various destinations. Although Dr Manmohan Singh interacted with the press on his travels across the country, there is no record of the proceedings of such events outside New Delhi, other than some photographs and video recordings.

Three National Press conferences were held in New Delhi – on 4 September 2004, 1 February 2006, and 24 May 2010. Each was attended by over 200 journalists. Five other interactions were major events in terms of the range of issues covered and the number of participating journalists. These events were held on 15 July, 2008, 6 September 2010, 16 February 2011, 29 June, 2011 and 3 January 2014. The meetings on 15 July 2008 and 6 September 2010 were both off the record. However, an unedited transcript of the latter is available in this collection.

The source of each document has been mentioned in each case. Links have been provided to online sources.

Much of the material has been sourced from the Ministry of External Affairs website: <http://www.mea.gov.in/interviews.htm?52/Interviews>. This can be searched by keyword and date.

Some have been obtained from the Press Information Bureau website: <http://pib.nic.in/newsite/erelease.aspx>, which can also be searched by keyword and date. Two documents have been sourced from personal records.

Most documents can now be accessed in the online archives of the Prime Minister's Office: <http://archivepmo.nic.in/drmanmohansingh/press.php>. The list of press releases can be searched by keyword and by date. However, the date and title of certain documents may be slightly different from this collection

In several cases, photographs and video recordings of the events are also available.
